

SAYS DETZER FORBADE HIS MEN TO BE BRUTAL

Soldier Says Accused Captain Dared Prisoners to Fight Him Man to Man.

Former Vice Governor Newton W. Gibbs, of the Philippines, was introduced to-day as additional counsel for Capt. Karl W. Detzer, on trial before a court martial at Governor's Island, charged with brutality to prisoners in the Criminal Investigations office of the Military Police at La Man, France, early this year.

Victor Shepard, formerly of the 162nd Infantry and later of Capt. Detzer's command, said he never saw the captain strike any prisoner but frequently saw men, naming some of them, come out of their cage with their faces swollen, cut and bleeding. Once, he said, Capt. Detzer dared any one of a group of prisoners to step out and fight him man to man.

Private Fred Yates, who is serving a sentence for threatening the captain's life, was one of the group, Shepard said. Yates is slight and weak and Detzer is a heavyweight. Shepard said Detzer posted notices forbidding brutality to prisoners and at least once assembled the company to warn the men against such practices.

At the Empire Johnson is known as "Prince Albert."

When the pants were pressed on Monday—Mr. Johnson sat waiting for them in his X. Y. Z's—he handed Unterman a check for $2 purporting to have been drawn on the State Bank, Grand Street, by "Louis B. Gibbs, General Sessions Judge." Unterman gave him $4.50 change. He later presented a $10 check, and both came back.

"Prince Albert" was arrested and
